A one of a kind coloring experience and exploration of characters, creatures, and bones. This book is intended to be an interactive mixed media coloring experience, designed to inspire your imagination. Front and back covers were finished using a variety of media including: watercolor, color pencil, pastels, art markers, acrylic paints and/or inks. Most mediums will work with this book, experiment and expand your imagination. There are open spaces within the designs and you are always encouraged to add your own characters, background, and elements wherever you wish.

Pages are designed to be double sided, with the front images reversed on the back of the page. This is done for two reasons. First, if any media bleeds through that page onto the back, it will be contained within the same area and will be easier to incorporate into and/or cover in the second coloring without ruining that image. Secondly, you have two chances to color each image. Experiment with different media and chose the one you like best to display. Tips for drawing, media use, shading, design, and character development are included (at the back of the book). Be sure to refer to the tips and instruction pages before using any liquid based medium.
