There's no need to cuddle up and prepare for a single sitting to knock this book out. It is best served up just as it was written, in short bursts of reading and longer bursts of laughter. The real-life pictures this book paints will have you envisioning being there as they happen. Be prepared to laugh and reflect on the memorable moments of these stories and be reminded of your own. Easy, fun and worth the time to get

A great read on the beach or on a plane...By Andrew ThomasA book written about the truly important things in life - friends, fun, and making memories. Ted Simendinger brings all of us into his most interesting world. I have not found many works that have been able to keep my complete attention during a five-hour flight or under an beach umbrella. This one does.

Critters is a very funny humor book with 35 sports and travel-related short stories from all around the world.Stories include people such as golfer Tiger Woods, baseball stars Nolan Ryan, Randy Johnson and Cal Ripken, Jr. -- plus places such as Beijing (China), Moscow (Russia), Key West and the Caribbean. Stories also include calamities caused by a myriad of animals, both wild and domestic: pets, camels, giants sharks, mountain trout, raccoons, skunks, etc.

"Critters is a lot of fun -- read it, enjoy it, and pass it on." -- Steve Cauthen, Hall of Fame jockey and 1978 Triple Crown winner"Critters, Fish Other Troublemakers is a lot of fun for anyone who enjoys sports or the outdoors." -- Bill Hanzlik, long-time NBA player and coachFrom the Inside FlapThis book is the truth, the whole truth and nothing BUT the truth except for the parts the author made up to protect the guilty. Critters is a great read for anyone who loves sports, the outdoors, animals or any combination thereof. The author, a former comic, comedy writer, and newspaperman, has stacked atop each other 35 stories from around the world. The stories will keep you laughing, plus make you the envy of all other airplane passengers when you chuckle out loud at something besides the look of your mystery meat on your in-flight dinner tray. The author has also been -- at one time or another -- a butcher, salesman, and sales trainer. He's also played amateur baseball around the world and laughingly writes about teammates of questionable talent in exotic locales like Moscow and Beijing. Critters, Fish Other Troublemakers is just that -- funny stories from the Great Outdoors, spiced with random trail crossings with eccentrics of a lifetime. Read about The Woman Who Knocked Herself Out Dancing, Bonefish Lem, The Camel Trainer, and the Little Old Man The Great Big Shark. Visit pristine locales like New Zealand. Feel the crushing enormity of China -- and a few chapters later chase the elusive bonefish while visiting a tiny speck of an island in the Caribbean -- tiny Bimini, Bahamas and its 1300 residents. Visit Augusta National Golf Club during The Masters. Learn the truth about flyfishing for trout and learn to train a herd of wild deer to come when you call. Read about the famous: Muhammad Ali, Nolan Ryan, Catfish Hunter, and Cal Ripken, Jr. Read, too, about Ernest Hemingway and his oddly unique herd of pet cats. And read about the not-as-famous but just as unforgettable. Spend a Tuesday With Charlie Holland. Or learn why you might want to ask Santa for a pair of custom-fitted stove-pipe underwear this coming holiday season if you plan on visiting the Florida Keys. Critters even features a chapter of pet poetry; written completely from the pet point of view -- about and concerning the relative worthlessness of the other pets in the household. Critters also has tremendous educational value. Learn the Origin of Profanity; how to use a fetal pig to better your own life; and learn a secret that raccoons around the planet hope you never, ever, acquire. And, in an emergency, this book can even be hollowed out and quickly made into a lunchbox. The author was born in Philadelphia, grew up in Severna Park, Maryland and went to college in Jacksonville, Florida. He's since paid movers to move the same useless stuff to Ocala and Tampa, FL, Great Falls, VA, and down to Miami for 8 human years, which equals 56 dog years. He's now been in Denver since early 1997. His family includes wife Bonnie, daughter Gracie, rescued greyhound Missy, goffin cockatoo Chaplin, parrot Ed, Jackie the Cat, and 15 tropical fish who avoid learning synchronized swimming despite the author's most determined attempts. Enjoy the laughter. Thanks for reading. Enjoy the laughter.
