TadlaFirst of all, i have to say, you do not have to have a "colicky" baby to relate to or to enjoy this very funny book....if you are a parent or know a parent you will love this book. It is a very fast read, i read it one sitting, Mr Lohla is a talented writer, and he brought me to laughter (out loud) many times, and to tears a couple times as well....(when julia "lost" ellie, and then erik "lost it" at mcdonalds), so did i. i highly recommend this book to anyone, i bought a few copies for christmas presents this year~to share with all my kids who have kids of their own. we can all relate.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. I used to listen to Preva on the Mark and Brian show when they were on the air in LA but never knew much about her husband who wrote the book. I recommend it for anyone who has children, will have children or wants a good read.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great quick Read!By Constantly movingGreat quick read.It clearly portrays a new parent's frustration with a colicky baby.But the real scene steal was Julia.I highlighted almost every word out of her mouth.Hilarious!

"Devil in a Diaper" is a sweet, funny, and uncensored look at one family's attempt to adjust to life with a new baby in the house... a baby that rarely sleeps, always cries, and seems totally determined to drive his parents nuts.Whether you've had a colicky, cries-all-the-time baby like Jack or an absolutely perfect dream baby (like his big sister Julia), the book contains insights and anecdotes that any parent who's ever had to juggle bottles, diapers, work, and sleep can relate to.As the reader smiles, cringes, and laughs through one family's pain, he's left with the feeling that in spite of everything, it's somehow still totally worth it... I'm pretty sure.

About the AuthorErik Lohla is a writer for "America's Funniest Home Videos" as well as for the "Mark and Brian Radio Program" which is where he met his wife Preva. They have two dogs, two cats, and two kids, and divide their time between their home in Valencia, California, and every restaurant with a drive-thru in Valencia, California, because the car is the only place where their kids will actually sit still and eat.
