What is great is that the artist has provided two each of every design. That way you can test your colors on one copy, color the image twice, or simply share the second copy with a friend. The designs have plenty of “doodles” drawn into the images to make coloring these rabbits and hares a fun and colorful experience. I love this style of drawing as it allows my imagination to take over and create fun and colorful animals instead of simply realistic ones. All of the design stop well before the binding. The designs are printed on one side of thin white non-perforated paper that is typical for books published by CreateSpace. The binding is glued but there is plenty of room for you to cut a page out if you choose to do so. All of my markers bleed through and my gel pens either bleed through or leave a distinct shadow on the back of the page. My coloring pencils work well with the paper. I will use a piece of chipboard or heavy paper behind the page I am working on so I don't ruin the following page with leaking ink. While I could wish for thicker, perforated paper, it appears that this is the quality that comes from CreateSpace (which is an company.) What I really like about the CreateSpace is it is a way that independent artists can get their work self-published. That way, I get a huge choice of design styles albeit with not the best paper. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Annette Rand's Rabbit Hares is a visually stunning departure from regular coloring designs. By Lianne Freese This coloring book has 40 pages but contains only 20 drawings. The designs repeat so you can try different color schemes or share with a bunny-loving pal. I liked maybe 2/3 of the drawings, some of them were just a little weird, IMHO. Other people may enjoy the weirdness. What I did like about the drawings is the detail isn't so tiny that you have trouble coloring anything. You will want to put cardboard or newspaper behind the page if using markers to color. I am paid by a survey company with gift cards, so I'm not out-of-pocket. This was an impulse purchase because I like rabbits. Rabbits Hares is suitable for ages 10 and up.

A colouring book designed for lovers of rabbits and hares, both pets and wild. This book contains twenty original images of rabbits and hares in various styles and differing levels of intricacy, with two copies of each image to make forty pages to colour. The images are printed on a single side of the paper to help prevent bleed-through. We recommend putting a sheet of paper or card between pages if using strong inks. The back of each page is marked with a cutting line to aid removal of pictures.
