YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE A TEXAN TO ENJOY THIS BOOK, BUT IT HELPSBy Robin Leigh MorganIn all the years I went to high school I had always been an A+ student which is one of the reasons why I had downloaded a free copy of this book from .In this book the author, Bill Rodgers, takes a historical look at various dates in the history of several cities in Texas, famous and infamous people, as well as topics like oil/gas and sports/entertainment. He then provides his readers with a hilarious modern day 20-20 hindsight look at each of the items being offered, along with an appropriate humorous #HASHTAG which can be used in a Tweet. Although I'm a "DAMNED YANKEE", I still enjoyed the humor being offered here; but I believe I would have the humor even more if I had been from the "BIG T." And because of this, I can't resist giving this book 5 STARS. 5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. a funny comment on the event By Scott This book is hysterical. Bill Rodgers wrote for Jay Leno. I don't know how he came up with all this, but I haven't stopped laughing. The book is divided into various sections (Cities Towns, Politicians Lawmakers, Outlaws Scofflaws, Heroes Battles, Oil Gas). There's a date, a paragraph describing a real historical happening, a funny comment on the event, and a laugh-out-loud tweet. The concept is great and the content hilarious. Bravo! 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. What a great and funny book By JKGEORGE What a great and funny book! Well worth reading, and it will make your day! Once you read this, you will know why Bill Rodgers wrote for Jay Leno for 20 years!

There's more to history than memorizing a bunch of old facts and dates. Take this look at historical events through the lens of modern day social media and see what happens. No pop quiz. No term paper. Just laughs!

"Bill has been making me laugh for over 20 years! Bill is a terrific comedy writer. Now, he's come up with this great idea for a comedy book. Great fun! Very cool!" - Jay Leno "Bill Rodgers is part of the fabric of the Austin and national comedy community, from Esther's Follies to Jay Leno, and points in between. Bill has been making people laugh for over 25 years, and I'm sure his new series, History Retweets Itself, will tickle your funny bone. Damned clever!" - Jesse Sublett, Author, Musician, Austin Character "Bill has a fun way of turning a phrase. He kept me in stitches when he wrote for Esther's Follies. Bill knows where the funny is!" - Shannon Sedwick, Esther's Follies About the Author Bill is a comedy writer and author living in Austin, Texas. He is currently writing a series of short-form humor books, offering a funny take on historical events. Bill's view through the lens of modern day social media provides a fun look at history. When Bill was young, he tried to make his friends laugh and shoot milk out their noses. Now that he's older, he tries to make his friends laugh and shoot scotch out their noses. Bill is a graduate of Austin College and works as a business consultant. He has also studied comedy and film writing with notable teachers and writers. Bill's comedy writing has taken many forms, including jokes, sitcom scripts, action-comedy screenplays, and short stage plays. He has written comedy sketches performed by Esther's Follies on Austin's famed 6th Street, and short plays performed by local theater groups. Bill has written for Jay Leno for over twenty years. Bill's material has been used in Jay's monologues and comedy routines around the world.
