SheehanEvery page is literally the same joke, so starts to wear off after a while, but entertaining to a point! It does make me wish London offered curdy chips though...2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. A gritty modern take on Dublin and the Facebook generationBy petercIf you know a Dubliner... or know where "Fingerless" is...If you love Facebook... more than yer own Ma...If you've taken a selfie... and you think you're "masso"and you know what a 3in1 is... or where to get the best one...then you will enjoy this gritty modern take on Dublin and the Facebook generationthis book is deadly ;-)

Since Hun first posted on facebook in March 2013, she's become an internet sensation with over 57,000 followers. If you haven't met her yet, brace yourself! She hates the nosey pass-remarkibels on her estate in Fingerless, she's not talking to her Ma and now she's got Ri Ri's Communion to deal with... #kantkope

'...reads like Roddy Doyle for Generation Snapchat...' - Ed Power '...a spoof working class Dubliner novel that comes off a marriage of Mrs Brown's Boys, The Commitments and someone having a meltdown on twitter...' - Irish Independent -- Ed Power Irish Independent InsiderAbout the AuthorI'm a single muddur wit two angles, me li'l prince Tyrone an' me li'l princess of power Rihanna. Dey're me world. I have a sister called Whitto an' her princess is called Jazz. Me besto is Tiffney. Luv nights out wit me girlos but ye can't beat a night in wit a bottle of veeno an' a masso curdy. I luv me curdys an' takeaways. We're protected by de Karma Chameelion - he watches over me an' me angles.
