Some I knew already. Some I didn't. The instructions for each are understandable and practical. I've read it and re-read it several times. Some of these things I hope to try out. Some I hope I never have to try out, but I am glad that now I have some idea what to do.I bought a copy for my brother. This book is a great gift for recent graduates, teenage or young adult sons, and for young men you are mentoring.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Fun and helpfulBy Nurse DebiChristmas present for 14 year old nephew. His dad is pretty handy and good about teaching his son, but there are some things a guy just needs to know as he approaches adulthood. Fun reference he can keep for a long time!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great purchase with TONS of helpful infoBy JdeeGot this as a Fathers Day gift and my dad LOVES it. Not to mention that my husband was looking over it and now he wants one too. Gives great information that could help anyone! Definitely a great for a Mae or female.

The Manual No Real Guy Should Be WithoutMotor oil, beer, and charcoal--that's what real men are made of. A real man should be able to swap out the car's spark plugs and change its oil as his freshly caught fish smokes on open flame--all while shotgunning a beer. For how-to instructions on these and other equally manly activities, you need How to Back Up a Trailer. It's the ultimate guide to everything you better know how to do, like rotate your car's tires and change its brake pads, swing a bat like a homerun hitter, build and light a campfire during a rainstorm, install an electrical outlet in your home, and tap a keg for the perfect beer flow.Read it. Learn it. Live it. With How to Back Up a Trailer, you'll never have to stop and ask for directions again.

About the AuthorKurt Anderson is a jack-of-all-trades--and master of none. A regular contributor for Family Handyman and Outdoor Life, Kurt knows how to get into (and usually out of) trouble, both in and out of the home. When he's not throwing hay bales or hammering nails, you can find him roaming northern Minnesota, riding (and repairing) his motorcycle, fishing, hunting, canoeing, and fixing things he's managed to foul up. He lives in Brookston, MN.
