

[Free read ebook] How To Be a Cat

How To Be a Cat

Pooh Hodges, Pamela Hodges
ePub / *DOC / audiobook / ebooks / Download PDF

 Download

 Read Online

#1655567 in Books 2016-10-04 8.00 x .25 x 5.00l, #File Name: 1941266150100 pages | File size: 63.Mb

Pooh Hodges, Pamela Hodges : How To Be a Cat before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised How To Be a Cat:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. I'm taking the plunge!By Melody M. PotterI am not a child, I am 68 years old and I'm finally ready to be a cat. For years I've envied the cats who snoozed on my pillow while I rushed to catch the traffic to work. For years I've tried to get my husband to stroke me on the head to relax me. And for years,

I've waited for someone to feed and water me and do the dishes afterwards. With little success. I'm retired now and can devote all my time to the instructions in this wonderful book. It made my day. I'm reading it again tomorrow, and the next day and the next...1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Delightful and humorous. First book I have ever read by a cat. I'm feeling more feline by the minute! By R Patrick Once again Pamela Hodges puts together a totally unique and fantastically creative book. But, you have to know that the writing was done by Pooh Hodges, the cat. Somehow, in only 15 steps Pooh Hodges manages to teach you how to become a cat!! Clear instructions included with clever illustrations. And just so you can immerse yourself in the process, there is room in the book to journal your experience. Way to go Pooh! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Talented artist mixes images and words to immerse By Regular Buyer This artist is incredibly talented. I was not only laughing and enjoying the romp through cat-dome, but also smiling at the pictures. It's a short read but well worth it. Highly recommend the paper copy over the ebook version.

In "How to Be a Cat", Pooh Hodges, a cat, will help you become a cat. All you have to do is follow the 15-step plan and you can leave behind your stressful life as a human and join the feline race. The illustrated funny cat book has an easy-to-follow checklist and a journal where you can document your journey from human to cat. The first step is to admit you want to be a cat. Do you hate shaving your face? Do you hate waking up early? Does your life feel rushed? If you really want to be a cat. Then read this book. If you want to read cat humor. Then read this book. If you want to be entertained. Then read this book. Your life will never be the same. You will be a cat. Pooh Hodges is the founder of the blog, TheCatWhoWrites.com, where cats help humans understand cats.

"With How To Be a Cat, Pooh Hodges joins the ranks of Hemingway's polydactyl (six-toed) cats from Key West and Key and Peele's movie-kitten Keanu in the forefront of literary felines. A romp for all cat lovers." --Steven Pressfield, bestselling author of The War of Art In this day and age, you can learn anything: how to work only four hours a week, travel to all 195 countries, and now, thanks to Pooh Hodges book, even become a cat. If you, like me, can't wait to start catching mice, sleeping in sunbeams, and purring like a Formula 1 car, then this book is for you. My only wish is that this essential guide had been published sooner. --Joe Bunting, author of Let's Write a Short Story I never thought I wanted to be a cat, until I read this book. Now, I know what I want out of life and finally have the courage to achieve it. Thank you, Pooh, for showing me the way! --Jeff Goins, author of The Art of Work and aspiring feline

About the Author Pamela Hodges is a writer and an artist. She lives in Pennsylvania with one husband, three children, six cats, two dogs, two birds and one hamster. She writes about art, creativity and finding joy in everyday life with seven litter boxes, on her website, ipaintiwrite.com. She is also the typist for her cats website, TheCatWhoWrites.com Pamela has weeded sugar beets on a Kibbutz in Israel, caught a one-way ticket to Bangkok, with a stop over in Tokyo where she lived for seven years working as a fashion photographer. Pamela would like to be a cat. However, as she is a wife and mother, she is unable to follow the fifteen steps to be a cat at this time.