Buy this for them.A real gem.0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. DisappointedBy Donna F. CarterAfter getting several copies of the "Why Dogs are Better Than Cats" (published 2009) which I thoroughly enjoyed and gave as gifts, I thought I would order this book because I like cats as well as own one. When the book arrived, I was shocked that for $9.99 it wasn't really a book, just a little brief, cutesy pocket-size work. I would never have wasted my money if the product had been described accurately.2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Paws Up as everyone knows cats rule and dogs just do druelBy Cat Person/BJ BangsCute, cute, cute, hilarious, and entertaining would describe Allia Zobel Nolan's new books: 'I'd Rather Be a Cat: The Officials Cats are Better Than Dogs Cat Book' and 'Dog Confessions: Shocking Tales from the Doghouse'.Which are better, cats or dogs? Well, if you're a cat lover, you have to vote tails up for cats. These whimsical felines always amaze us with their newest crazy escapade. She's done a marvelous job capturing why cats are better than dogs in `I'd Rather Be a Cat: The Officials Cats are Better Than Dogs Cat Book (ISBS: 978-0-7369-3934-8) creating more fuel for the debate over who is best. If we had our druthers...we'd rather be cats. Why? A cat's breath doesn't smell like a mixture of a dumpster or old locker; cats would never grab a guest's leg or slobber all over them; cats wouldn't dream of rolling in the mud; cats don't have self-esteem issues; and cats don't beg.The pocket sized books have beautiful illustrations of our whimsical friends with stunningly captivating photographs is a quick read, and one that all cat lovers, and some that are not, will totally enjoy. Allia probably sums it up in her next of last phrase when she says Cats are individualists - independent thinkers who are not influenced by the crowd. We are not interested in anyone's opinion but our own. Sound familiar?? Dog Confessions, Shocking Tales Straight from the Doghouse (ISBN: 978-0-7369-4459-5) is equally as humorous. Complete with equally stunning photography, this quick read gives dogs their fair due, letting them unleash their guilt, and let readers in on the inside poop about what goes on around the house when the homeowner isn't around.

Cat-lover and humorist Allia Zobel Nolan has the inside scoop—the purr-fect answer—to the question, "Which are better, cats or dogs?" After scampering around the world and pattering through neighborhood sandlots, Allia has captured those expressive felines in crazy photos and paired each one with a hilarious one-liner. Cat lovers near and far unite to applaud the proof of the truth...Cats are the best, of course! Add this new title to Allia's other two humorous pet books, Cat Confessions and Dog Confessions for a riotous good time.

“Are you tired of dealing with the stress at the office? Does carpooling the kids to soccer drive you to distraction? Well, if the answer to these questions is a resounding ‘YES!’ I have a cure for you. It comes in the form of an easy-to-give gift book. There are two cures actually, written by the renowned author and humorist Allia Zobel Nolan: I’d Rather Be a Cat and Dog Confessions. Both books are delightful and will chase any smiles and giggles straight out into the open. If you have ever owned a cat or a dog, or know someone with a new puppy in their home, send them these books. A great way to say ‘I Love You’ to that special someone!”?Mary Anne Miller, FelineXpress.com
