I just love that F. Marciuliano writes from the purrspective of kittens. So sweet. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Cute little book. By Vince RykerIt's cute, I keep this sitting in the magazine rack in one of my house's bathrooms. I bought it as a stocking stuffer for no one in particular...squirreled it away to wait for Christmas, then forgot all about it and this hiding spot of random gifts once Christmas rolled around so I decided it was MY stocking stuffer! YAY! 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. PURR-fect gift for the crazy cat-lady (or man) in your life By Lucky in KC was a gift for my adult daughter for Christmas as she adopted two kittens a few months ago. she LOVED it in "typical" cat-woman fashion. had to drag her mentally back from the book to continue on with opening gifts.

Just when we all thought things couldn't get any cuter, from the author of the New York Times bestselling I Could Pee on This comes I Knead My Mommy, a book of confessional poems about the triumphs, trials, and daily discoveries of being a kitten. From climbing walls to claiming hearts, these little cats bare all in such instant classics as "And Then You Said 'No,'" "Ode to a Lizard I Didn't Know Is Also a Pet in This House," and "I Will Save You." With adorable photos of the poetic prodigies throughout, this volume gives readers a glimpse into their confused and curious feline minds as they encounter the world around them.

About the Author Francesco Marciuliano is the author of the bestselling I Could Pee on This and I Could Chew on This as well as Sally Forth, an internationally syndicated family comic strip that appears in nearly 800 newspapers around the world. He lives in New York City.
