Charming and GenuineBy Elizabeth EidsonCombining Robert Burch's fine writing with a larger-than-life character like Ida Early, this story is hilarious and deeply meaningful. Children love it, and so do the adults who read it to them.

FOR USE IN SCHOOLS AND LIBRARIES ONLY. Tough times in rural Georgia during the Depression take a lively turn when spirited Ida Early arrives to keep house for the Suttons

"Ida Early is as tall as the tales she tells, a gangly scarecrow who comes to the rural Georgia home of widower Mr. Sutton during the Depression years. Her offer to help out for a spell delights the four Sutton children and their father ... and life becomes a three-ring circus for the kids".--Publishers Weekly. An ALA Notable Book.About the AuthorRobert J. Burch (June 25, 1925 – December 25, 2007) was an American writer of 19 children's books for children and young adults. Many of his stories are based on his childhood experiences in rural Georgia during the Great Depression. He was born in Fayette County, Georgia, and spent the majority of his life there.
