Tony Davis : Splat!: The Madness and Magnificence of the World's Most Dangerous Sports before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Splat!: The Madness and Magnificence of the World's Most Dangerous Sports:

The cast of nontraditional sports available to the more daring participant range from the seemingly benign—the central Asian game of buzkashi, or goat-nabbing—to such apparently suicidal activities as the human trebuchet. Full of astounding facts and amazing-but-true incidents, this comprehensive guide to some of the world's most dangerous sports explains what it's like to be gored by a bull, base jump into a cavern, or dare the “death zone” at Mt. Everest. The history of each activity is provided along with its potential dangers and rewards, making this a complete guide to some of the world's most bewildering sports.

Lemon will cause arguments, much laughter and intense nostalgic nodding ... a perfect stocking filler for petrol heads' Sydney Morning Herald Davis's disbelief-tinged prose ... offers much amusement ... great for any motoring enthusiast.' West Australian Terrific stuff ...' Sunday Tasmanian Davis writes with a dry, deadpan cynicism that's wonderfully enjoyable.' Melbourne Weekly About the Author Tony Davis is a former editor of Drive magazine and the author of the bestselling Lemon! and You Must Be Skidding.
