If you know a Canadian, have ever lived in a state bordering Canada or are just looking for a good laugh you need to read Stats Canada. Even if you only get 80% of the jokes it's well worth it.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great book.By samaWill make you laugh.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Hilarious!!By MelissaAnyone who is Canadian and owns a twitter account is likely aware of the hilarious account @stats_canada; so it was much to my delight, when I discovered that they had created a book.Essentially "Satire on a National Scale" is a grade "A" example of Canadian humour at its finest; making jokes about our devotion for Tim Hortons all the way to the country's decidedly crazy weather. In its' sarcasm this book reveals little truths about the Canadian culture - ie. we do love hockey, and we do make fun of Toronto. I loved Stats Canada, it was a hilarious book that didn't take long to read. In fact, at times I was laughing out loud at the absurd [yet oddly true] look at Canada. I expect that non-Canadians may not find this book as humorous. Ultimately, "Stats Canada: Satire On A National Scale" is a wonderful and funny read - perfect for winter reading in your igloo whilst cuddling with your pet moose.

Canada 's funniest online sensation Canadians everywhere have been deeply confused by the irresponsible and wildly inaccurate data tweeted by Stats Canada since July 2012. While outrageously false, these hilarious "facts" unearth deep truths about Canadians and their culture. For the over 200,000 people already following on Twitter, @stats_canada is a daily source of the funniest Canadian parody. Now, in their first book, Stats Canada satirizes everything from history, culture, and language to sports, entertainment, politics, weather, and much more. With all-new features, graphs, maps, and other illustrations, Stats Canada has all the laughter you've come to expect, with only 10% recycled content! 35% of advice given in any Home Hardware does not come from an actual employee 67% of Canadians own summer snow pants 32% of Canadians can't spell "tuque" but own at least four 56% of Manitobans are convinced they've travelled to the future when visiting other provinces 79% of Canadian teens don't want to wear their winter coat, it's not even that cold out 100% of Canadian hockey players give it 110% every game 65% of Canadian Instagram accounts include an artsy photo of a Tim Hortons cup Disclaimer: The official Statistics Canada has taken no issue with the content of this book. They were too polite to object.
