starts with an invitation to a behind-the-scenes look at the Weaver's life as a family band that travels for most of the year. After that comes chapter after chapter of stories that explain why they do what they do and how God has enabled them to do it. The book is well-written, entertaining, and a great read. Going to one of their concerts and meeting them in person is also a treat. They are gifted musicians with a heart for God. I enjoyed this book and look forward to more books by this author. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By AJ Mahopac Falls NY Uplifting - I know the family so that made it more interesting. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Entertaining book! By Mrs. Anne Smith Highly entertaining, well written and documented as well as a comical look at life on the road. Highly recommended, excellent book for a first author!

What happens when you take 10 people and: * Teach them to sing and play instruments ... * Put them on stage to perform 3+ times every week ... * Stuff them into a 15-passenger van for hours on end ... * And they're all related? Complete and utter chaos, that's what happens! No, this isn't a reality TV show ... this is reality for the 10-member Weaver family, also known as "The Weaver Believer Survival Revival." When the Weaver family first started singing, they didn't expect much to happen. Now traveling an average of 20 days a month and singing 200 shows yearly, the Weavers are committed to sharing God's word through song and encouragement. This book is a testament to the joys, pains, and strengths of family. You'll laugh at the outrageous antics, at their unbelievably true stories of life on the road, and you'll be left with a few thoughts to ponder when it's over. Watch what happens when God turns a ten-member family into a Bluegrass/Southern Gospel ministry.

About the Author Anna discovered her love for writing at a very early age, when she wrote and entered a story in the local library's short story contest. When it won "first place," her discovery was affirmed. In high school, one of her stories received an "Honorable Men-tion" in Bob Jones University's "Inscriptions" annual writing competition. Anna has been performing with her family band, "The Weaver Believer Survival Revival" since the age of 14. Prior to that, she sang in church musicals, kids' choir, and for special occasions, before she went full-time with her family at age 16. Now at age 21, she sings and plays the acoustic bass guitar in the band. The flexibility of on-line college classes gives her the opportunity to further her education while still traveling in full-time ministry. She lives in the mountains of north Georgia with her family and pets.
